Circuit Court Trial Docket Setting Date

Messina to Face Jury On Attempted Arson Indictment

Setting of the trial docket for the September term of Circuit Court has been scheduled for Sept. 5, beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Circuit Court room. Judge Frank Hayes will preside.

The court docket compiled by Circuit Clerk Bryan Howe lists 251 civil cases and 25 criminal cases to be considered. In addition to this load, other cases filed during the term may be taken up and disposed of.

Among the civil cases are 82 petitions for divorce and 69 suits for damages. The remainder of the civil cases include replevins, garnishments, tax bills, motions to modify previous decisions, mechanics liens, uniform support and other cases not of a criminal nature.

The criminal cases consist of four cases of felonious assault, three cases of stealing more than $50, one case of revoked probation, two appeals of careless and reckless driving convictions, one appeal on a drivers license suspension, one motion for probation, two cases of attempted arson, one case of molesting a minor, one case of forgery, one case of first degree robbery, two cases of no account checks, two cases of second degree burglary, two cases of tampering with a motor vehicle and two cases of burglary.

Perhaps the most celebrated case on the docket is the case of Ralph Messina, Kansas City, charged with attempted arson of the Gordon Building in Sedalia Feb. 12. In this case several cartons of gasoline with a lighted fuse was found in the building. The fact that if the bomb had gone off it would have caused a considerable amount of damage and possible loss of life, and the possibility of a Kansas City underworld tie-in resulted in considerable publicity.

Messina was named in an indictment handed down by a Pettis County grand jury a few weeks later. This case was set for Sept. 12 on the day Messina appeared in Circuit Court to answer the indictment.

4 More Rangers Are Ordered To Study the Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A U. S. space agency official says four more Ranger spacecraft have been ordered for close-up television exploration of the moon.

Dr. Robert C. Seaman Jr., associate administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Tuesday that addition of the four $20-million craft will hike the total program to nine spacecraft. Cal Tech's jet propulsion laboratory builds them.

The first of the Rangers was launched Aug. 23. Seaman said that the acceleration of the Ranger program is generally designed to land an American on the moon by 1970.

Mailmen Are Asking Weather Reprieve

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — After years of wading through everything from blizzards to hailstones, the mailman has asked for a reprieve from heavy weather.

The State Association of Letter Carriers Tuesday adopted resolutions urging laws that would suspend mail delivery in weather emergencies and cut the mailman's day from eight to six hours when the temperature climbs above 80 or drops below 10.

Enlargement Of Kaysinger Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Engineers have started a survey to determine if the water storage and power generating facilities of the proposed Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir near Warsaw, Mo. should be enlarged. Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, both Missouri Democrats, said today.

The study will be coordinated with preconstruction planning now under way for the reservoir. Col. A. P. Rollins, Jr., Kansas City district Army Engineer, notified the senators the investigation is in response to a resolution adopted by the Senate Public Works Committee at their request March 25.

Because numerous meetings were held recently at which local views as to the enlarged pool were expressed, formal public hearing on the survey investigation has been waived, the senators were told. But they said they were assured the Army Engineers "would be glad to receive any further comments from the Osage Basin area."

BULLETIN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Minuteman missile flew wildly out of control and crashed in flames on the Cape today as it was launched for the first time from an underground silo.

There was no immediate report of casualties or damage. Members of the launch crew were in a concrete reinforced blockhouse several hundred feet away.

A rush of flame and smoke burst from the 90-foot deep pit as the missile ignited. Seconds later the 58-foot Minuteman darted through the smoke cloud and pitched out of control, tumbling back onto the launch area.

The impact sent a huge ball of fire hundreds of feet into the sky.

Senate Okays $7.2 Billion Loan Project

Kennedy Hails Move As Important Decision for US

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate House conferees have approved a five-year $7.2-billion overseas loan program but eliminated its most controversial provision, authority to borrow from the Treasury. President Kennedy said the compromise was "wholly satisfactory."

He hailed it as "an important decision for the United States and the free world."

The conferees, who have been ironing out differences between Senate and House foreign aid bills, announced the loan program compromise Tuesday night.

With the major obstacles behind them, they meet again today to wrap up their work. The compromise then goes before the Senate and House.

Loans for this year, $1.2 billion, will be included in an over-all foreign aid program for fiscal 1962. It will be the biggest foreign aid authorization in years, $4,253,500,000.

For days it had been obvious that House conferees were convinced the House would insist on annual appropriations from Congress to finance the development loan program.

Kennedy originally asked $8.8 billion for a five-year program to be financed by borrowing from the Treasury. The Senate voted $8 billion for the program and approved the borrowing authority.

In the conferees' compromise, the Senate yielded the borrowing authority while the House agreed to a five-year program, instead of the one-year, $1.2 billion program the House had voted.

Reporting the compromise after a night session, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told reporters it was "not exactly what I wanted but a compromise."

He said he hoped to call the measure up in the Senate for a vote Thursday.

Employment Is Down In State, Report Reveals

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Non-farm employment in Missouri reached 1,325,000 by mid-July, down 10,800 from a month earlier.

Leroy Schantz, director of the state Employment Security Division, reported the figures today. He said most of the decline, 9,300 jobs, was attributed mainly to the summer school shutdown. The construction industry added 2,000 workers to make up some of the loss.

August Workers At Peak

Unemployment Rate Remains At Same Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment surged to a record high during August and there was some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed.

But Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, releasing the August job figures Tuesday, said the unemployment rate remained at the same 6.9 per cent of the labor force.

Employment hit a total of 68,539,000, up 40,000 over July. This compared with 68,282,000 in August last year.

Unemployment was down 598,000 to 4,542,000, compared with 3,788,000 a year earlier.

Despite the dip in unemployed, Goldberg said the percentage of the labor force out of jobs remained the same because the labor force total declined as many students, unable to find summer jobs, quit trying.

Goldberg said he was encouraged by some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed — those who have been out of jobs for so many months that their unemployment compensation payments have ended.

Sightseers Freed From Alps Trap

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — Rescuers today completed removal of 81 sightseers who spent hours of terror in tiny cable cars stalled high above an Alpine glacier by a freak accident that killed six others.

"We've had an awful time and we're glad it's over," was the comment of a Briton numbed by a night of little leg room and freezing cold on the slopes of Mont Blanc.

Helicopters ferried the last survivors back to the warmth of their Chamonix hotels.

Some of them had spent nearly 20 hours suspended hundreds of feet in the air while workers slowly wound in the broken traction cable.

The cable was snapped at 1:10 p.m. Tuesday by a French air force jet combat plane flying low through the valley between Mont Blanc and Aiguille du Midi.

Most of the passengers seemed too fatigued by the experience to have much to say, other than that they were glad to get back alive.

A German family of four and an Italian man and his son were killed when their cabins fell hundreds of feet after the traction cable was snapped.

They were the only casualties among the 87 persons on the cableway.

Raymond Jacquet, prefect of the Haute Savoie Department, said it was a miracle more people were not killed.

"This testifies to the effectiveness of the safety measures on this spectacular cable railway"

Undergoes Surgery

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — German movie actor Horst Buchholz, seriously injured in a road accident, was operated on today and doctors said afterward his condition was "satisfactory considering the circumstances."

After the abdominal operation, Buchholz also regained consciousness for the first time since his cream-colored American convertible crashed into a tree at high speed in a Munich suburb Tuesday night. Police thought the actor might have been tired and fallen asleep.

Schools Aid Bill Delayed

Coalition Prevents Consideration By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats today voted to prevent House consideration of the administration's federal aid to education bill.

The move, which came quickly after the House met at noon, apparently ended chances of getting through at this session the principle the administration badly wanted to establish — federal money for the construction of public school facilities.

Two other parts of the package, aid to schools overcrowded by children of federal workers, and extension of a student loan program, are likely to be salvaged and passed later. Many members, both Republican and Democratic, favor these programs while bitterly opposing public school construction.

Today's defeat for the administration came swiftly after the House began business.

The tip came when the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats passed up a chance to delay the bill for another week. That indicated that they were sure of their strength and wanted to bury the bill.

Under the little-used Calendar Wednesday procedure, the roll of House committees was called alphabetically shortly after the House met at noon.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the Education Committee, was allowed to call up the bill when his turn on the list came. The bill's opponents could have delayed things a week by having other bills called up by a Southern Democratic chairman who came before Powell on the list. They didn't.

At Sedalia, Clinton

Power Generators To Go On Standby

Economy in generating electric energy, with the newer high temperature and high pressure steam plants being manufactured today, will necessitate Missouri Public Service Co. putting the Sedalia and Clinton generating stations on a "peaking power" and emergency basis in the near future.

Missouri Public Service Co. has two new, modern plants in operation now. One is the Ralph Green Station at Pleasant Hill, with a capability of 50,000 kilowatts and the other at Sibley. The latter station presently has a capability of 50,000 kilowatts, and a second unit of an additional 50,000 kilowatts is expected to go on the line the latter part of September or first of October. It is presently planned to add more than 100,000 kilowatts additional to the Sibley station at a later date.

"These new generators are vastly superior in economical production of power, and is the reason that the older-type, uneconomical units such as we have at Sedalia and Clinton must give way to better equipment if the company continues."

Hide and Seek Turns to Tragedy For 7-Year-Old

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) — A game of hide and seek turned into tragedy when 7-year-old Jimmy Bowers suffocated in a refrigerator stored in a utility room at a tourist court near his home Tuesday.

Police Chief Leo Schreck said the youngster's body was found by other children with whom he had been playing. Schreck said the children told him young Bowers used the refrigerator as a hiding place earlier in the day and apparently went back to it during a later game.

Schreck said the utility room was not locked but the doors were closed. He said an investigation was continuing.

The young victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowers of Osceola.

Swims to Freedom In Hail of Bullets

BERLIN (AP) — An East German swimmer to freedom today across the Teltow Canal under a hail of bullets from Communist border guards. He climbed out on the west bank of the canal unhurt.

West Berlin police said they heard bullets whipping into the canal, whose center marks the sector border, about 6:45 a.m. Five minutes later the dripping man clambered up the west bank to freedom. He was not immediately identified.

During the past week, Communist troops have killed two men trying to swim the 60 yards across the canal, which forms part of the border in the divided city. Berliners now call it the "Death Canal."

Police reported that Communist guards elsewhere on the border flung tear gas grenades and fired water cannon Tuesday night at about 60 persons gathered at Alexanderstrasse, in Kreuzberg, West Berlin was "not within the competence of Bonn politicians."

In a radio speech Tuesday night, Brandt rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's suggestion that Soviet troops join the U.S., British and French forces in a token garrisoning of the city. Brandt said the idea is unacceptable to the people of Berlin and the Western powers.

Brandt also tangled with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in election debate on Berlin.

Your copy of The Sedalia Democrat should arrive before 6 p.m. weekdays and before 7:30 a.m. Sundays. If you fail to receive your copy, please call TA 6-1000 for special delivery. For this service, telephone The Democrat office before 6:30 on weekdays, and before 10 o'clock in the morning on Sundays.

Adenauer charged in a campaign speech that the Berlin crisis was created by the Soviet Union to help Brandt, candidate of the Social Democratic party.

Adenauer's charge drew boos in Hagen and Gelsenkirchen. When he made it at Recklinghausen, he added that "it is absolutely out of the question" that Brandt's party shared any responsibility for the crisis.

Brandt, speaking at Erlangen, commented: "The old gentleman doesn't quite grasp the situation any more."

The East Germans still held an American soldier seized at the West German border early Tuesday near the Bavarian town of Neustadt. A U.S. Army spokesman said Spec. 4.C. Bobby E. Scott, 20, of Edgerton, Mo., was arrested by Communist police while on regular patrol with his unit.

Square Eggs Produced By Willing Hen

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—So you never heard of eggs shaped like ice cubes?

Neither had poultry scientists at North Carolina State College until they set out to assist in promoting North Carolina as "the good egg state."

At a breakfast here Friday, Gov. Terry Sanford will be presented with a supply of the eggs—shaped like a child's building blocks. At the breakfast, the governor will designate North Carolina officially as "the good egg state."

Dr. Henry W. Garen of the college's poultry science department told how the cube-shaped eggs are produced. First, a cube-shaped template—of form—of calcium was prepared and the egg, minus its regular shell, was placed inside.

The template was then inserted in the ovaduct of a hen who, obligingly, deposited egg shell around it.

"She'll put a shell around anything," explained Dr. Garen.

Then the scientists have to remove the cube-shaped egg "because the hen can't lay it properly."

Dr. Garen doesn't believe square eggs will replace the standard variety any time soon. Although more convenient for packing and storing, they aren't nearly as strong as the regular eggs—and they're rather uncomfortable for the hens.

Charge Youth With Murder Of Policeman

KANSAS CITY (AP)—William (Butch) Hunter, 19, was charged with first degree murder in the slaying of a policeman during some gang trouble Monday night.

Hunter was arraigned Tuesday and is being held without bond for a preliminary hearing.

Police said Hunter signed a statement that he shot Cpl. Arthur J. Marti, 26, when the officer tried to take a pistol from him.

Hunter and three other youths were being searched by Marti after police received reports of gunfire in the streets of the east side section several times during the evening.

Two other youths received leg wounds in the earlier incidents.

Hunter said he got the pistol and a .22 rifle because "the word was out that the 23rd Street gang was out to get everybody who lived south of 31st Street."

Being held as witnesses are a 14-year-old and a 16-year-old who admitted being with Hunter.

A third youth is being sought. The 16-year-old said he heard the third youth shout: "Butch, Butch—kill him," just before Marti was shot.

Wide Vocabulary Describes Paris Fall, Winter Styles

By NADEANNE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—The just-released pictures of new Paris creations show that just about every term in the fashion dictionary has been dragged out and put to work for the 1961-62 fall and winter clothes. Capes, hoods, scarves, drapes, flares, godets, diagonals, tucks and gathers are all in the picture.

Basically, it's a princess season, with a cautious approach to figure-fitting lines. Only Marc Bohan of Dior throws caution to the winds and boldly embraces the stringbean silhouette. Even he makes some big flared skirts for insurance, just in case women are not quite ready to go back to corsets yet.

Materials, colors and costume jewelry are kept sober, and for a good reason. The clothes themselves are busy with details and intricate bias cuts. One designer aptly describes them as "clothes conscious clothes."

For those already following Paris on length, there's no need to take up or let down hems. The dressmakers are holding the line just below the knee, with a few skittish mid-knee exceptions. This no-change policy foiled the rumor-mongers who said we were in for a letdown.

Brown is a top color, crowded closely by the purple range from prune to cyclamen. When red, green and blue appear, they are usually bold and bright. Black, gray and beige are still good for daytime.

Hats have shrunk to reasonable sized helmets and turbans. Many of them are in fur, to go with such fur trimmings as collars, cuffs, hems and narrow outline bands. Some designers showed two-color furs, typically brown with beige. In the same theme are wool coats lined with a contrasting color in the same wool.

Belts have never been so plentiful since the sack consigned them to the limbo that is always only temporary in the fashion world. Most of them are wide ones for good measure.

Little Red Riding Hood seems to have been just about everybody's inspiration this season. Capes and hoods are all over.

Plaids are almost the only break from plain solid colors. Things get gay for the evening, though, with sinuous sequins and beads, glittering lame and embroidery, brocades and cut velvet. The long-slim evening dress has snatched the lead from big-skirted ball dresses.

In a season that seemed tame by comparison with the old days of Fath and Schiaparelli, Nina Ricci's designer Jules Crahay came up with the only thing approaching a dramatic creation. This was his one-sleeved cape, with fan front thrown up over one shoulder.

Extra Troops In Berlin An Empty Gesture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday night called President Kennedy's ordering 1,500 extra troops to Berlin "an empty gesture."

"Any thought that moving a few ground troops into Berlin is going to have any effect on Mr. Khrushchev is a bunch of nonsense," Nixon said on a CBS radio program "The World Tonight."

Nixon said he thought the Soviet premier might interpret the "beefing up" of the U.S. garrison in Berlin as an indication of "weakness rather than strength."

Nixon said, however, that "I would not criticize" Kennedy's general handling of the Berlin situation "except for the fact that I think there has been too much loose talk about it."

Says US Worker Is Partner to Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says the nation "can count on the American worker, as a production partner of the armed forces, to meet any challenge that faces us."

The Pentagon chief expressed that view in a Labor Day statement issued Tuesday. Labor, said McNamara, "is playing a vital role in producing important, urgent military supplies and equipment, including weapons of unusual complexity."

No British Subs In Soviet Waters

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office said Tuesday no British submarines have entered the Soviet Union's territorial waters.

A spokesman said Britain never has recognized the Soviet claim of 12 miles of territorial waters, "but without prejudice to that position, we have respected and continue to respect for matters of convenience the views of other states in this question of submarines."

The prisoner was an African member of the United National Independence party, which the white government blames for a month-old revolt.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 13-year-old girl who needs some advice from an older person. I can't talk this over with my parents because they are like strangers when it comes to a personal subject.

The other afternoon my girl friend called me at the last minute and said she couldn't go to the movie because she had to stay at home and take care of her little brothers. I decided to go alone.

A man who looked older than my father was sitting a few seats away from me in the same row. I noticed him staring at me. Ten minutes later he moved over into the seat next to me and offered me a candy bar. I was so scared I couldn't move. As soon as I calmed my nerves I ran out without even seeing the show. Did I do the right thing? —

STILL SHAKING

Dear Still Shaking: No, you did not. You ran out and left the man free to go bother someone else.

Whenever a character of this type appears, go immediately to the usher, the ticket-taker or the manager — whoever is handiest. Point out the trouble-maker and make your complaint. Such a person can then be turned over to the proper authorities.

Dear Ann Landers: Four of us have been playing bridge once a week for many years. We aren't experts and we don't play for high stakes but we enjoy a good, tight game and the scores mount up.

One of our foursome is getting very deaf and she refuses to admit it. If you play bridge, Ann, you know how annoying it is when your opponent opens, you overcall at the two level, your deaf partner hasn't heard the opening bid so she thinks your overcall is a demand two and she cheerfully keeps it open to game and a big set. The next hand you open, she doesn't hear you and she passes. The game is lost right then and there.

She's a dear person but very sensitive. We've hinted and even resorted to shouting but she doesn't catch on. Her only response is "Please don't talk so loud." What can we do? —

BALTIMORE BIDDERS

Dear Bidders: The fact that she's ruining your bridge game is of secondary importance. This woman's deafness is walling her off from a good part of living.

One of you should take her aside and tell her frankly that her deafness is apparent and urge her to see a doctor and get some help.

Dear Ann Landers: I love my wife but I don't know what to do about her lying.

The big problem is over bills and it burns me up because I'm a guy who likes to keep my credit clean. I give her my paycheck and she's supposed to pay everything. I take a few dollars a week for myself.

Last month I found three letters in the desk drawer "urgently requesting" the payment of bills that should have been paid three months ago. When I asked her about it she said she paid them. Yesterday I got notices on the same bills. First she said she "got mixed up" then she said she lost her check book.

It's one lie after another. What can I do? This has been going on for four years. — SAM

Dear Sam: From now on give HER an allowance and you pay the bills. It's as simple as that. c 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Profit Sharing Offered Auto Workers Is Not New

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Profit sharing may be new to the auto industry but it's an old-timer in some other industries—and a highly controversial program in many more.

The United Auto Workers Union and American Motors Corp. have agreed in principle on a three year contract that includes a profit-sharing plan, set up in two funds: 1. to finance increased fringe benefits for the workers; 2. to be put into American Motors stock in the workers' names.

The union sought profit sharing in its last go-round with the industry three years ago. The companies would have none of it then. And General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler still balked this year as the American Motors' agreement was announced.

The history of profit sharing has been largely one of proposals by the management rather than labor. Unions traditionally have preferred straight wage increases as more tangible and certain.

Companies who use some form of profit sharing—more than 30,000—cite as advantages that workers have an incentive to help assure profits by cutting out waste or anything akin to featherbedding; discontent with wage scales is reduced somewhat; opposition to schemes to increase productivity is reduced, absenteeism usually drops.

But some companies that have tried profit sharing have given it up later. Some found it cost too much, draining away profits of good years that could tide companies over lean years. Others say it makes workers doubly discontented with management when profits—and profit sharing—didn't reach expectations. Fast growing companies like to plow profits back into the business rather than share them.

Some of the profit-sharing plans distribute cash or other benefits immediately, as under the American Motors plan. But an estimated 25,000 of the plans have deferred payments—usually holding up payment until the employee retires.

Procter and Gamble, Cincinnati firm making soap, detergents and other products, started a profit sharing plan in 1987.

Sears Roebuck in 1916 started its savings and profit sharing pension fund. Eastman Kodak set up a wage dividend plan in 1912 and recently distributed a record $48 million to its employees.

Many of the plans include contributions by employees. Some of the plans make extra payments in recognition of length and size of such contributions.

Other firms that set up profit-sharing plans long ago include: Bell & Howell, Motorola, Zenith, Pitney-Bowes, Nunn-Bush Shoe, Jewel Tea and Lincoln Electric.

FBI Survey Reveals

Big Hike In Mob Attacks On Police Seen In Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An alarming increase in mob attacks on police is shown in a survey of cities across the nation.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover took note of the situation at the recent session of the FBI National Academy in Washington.

He told 80 hand-picked police officers and officials from the United States and Canada there has been "a mounting wave of civilian attacks on police in the performance of their duties."

Conditions, he added, necessitate "continuing training of the type made available by the FBI so that police everywhere will be better equipped to cope with the rampaging forces of lawlessness."

In New York City alone 1,171 policemen have been attacked in the first six months of this year while trying to make arrests.

The figures alarm New York police officials, particularly so because of an increasing public participation in the attacks, which reflect a continuation of an upward trend in the last 10 years.

The frequency of attacks on police inspired editorials in New York newspapers calling for judicial sternness.

Some jurists, notably Samuel S. Leibowitz in Brooklyn and Abraham D. Levy in the Bronx, served notice that convicted cop-beaters will get maximum sentences.

Records in the office of the police chief in Washington show 168 attacks on policemen making arrests in the fiscal year ended June 30. There were 216 such attacks the previous year and 227 the year before that.

The Philadelphia police department reported 1,805 policemen were hurt intentionally in the performance of their duties from January to October 1960. Fifty-seven of them later were pronounced unfit for further duty.

The Philadelphia department lacked statistics for this year, but a spokesman said "we can be pretty certain that 1961 will be worse than last year."

In Baltimore last year, 419 persons were charged with attacking police, 160 of whom required treatment for injuries. Figures are not available for this year. There were 392 arrests for this offense in 1959.

Last month in Miami, two patrolmen were beaten and pistol-whipped as they tried to arrest two men for gambling. Another eight men jumped the police, took their guns and cut one patrolman's head with a bottle before his companion got to his radio car and summoned reinforcements.

Last January in the Florida resort, a deputy sheriff was punched in the face by a woman who walked into a courtroom office, attacked a secretary and then the deputy when he intervened.

Two months later, six Cuban exiles were fined after attacking two Miami policemen who were attempting to quiet a demonstration by opposing exile factions.

In April, a bar owner was convicted of assaulting a suburban Miami police chief and his sergeant. The police had wrested a gun from the man, who then jumped them. He was shot in the leg and arrested.

Last summer in Charlotte, N.C., patrolman Johnny Reed Annas was shot to death while investigating a knife fight. His companion was roughed up by a crowd but otherwise unharmed.

Los Angeles officials reported 100 aggravated assaults on police and 109 cases of simple assault and battery during the first seven months of this year.

The worst such case in recent years in the West Coast metropolis was the Griffith Park Memorial Day riot in which several officers were hurt while trying to arrest two Negro youths who had caused a disturbance.

Los Angeles police have lost an average of one member a year by gunshot since 1946.

Detroit reported 170 cases in which police have been attacked on duty during the first six months of this year. There were 157 similar incidents in the same period last year.

New London, Conn., authorities said there have been 14 incidents this summer of attacks on policemen. Most occurred at Ocean Beach Park, an amusement area, and most involved teen-agers who had been drinking.

Cleveland's police chief said that attacks against policemen have been customary and there was no noticeable increase this year. A group of residents in a low-cost housing project stoned police who attempted to break up a meeting protesting heavy traffic. A child had been killed in traffic.

One Cleveland patrolman who shot in the hip and slashed with a steak knife in two separate incidents. Another patrolman was gashed with a butcher's knife when he attempted to interfere in a domestic argument.

On the other hand, two large cities reported little such trouble. They were Chicago and Atlanta, Ga. In Chicago, police reported few incidents. Atlanta police said such incidents are rare and no policeman has been hurt seriously there for several years.

Arab Appointed To Command Of African Group

CAIRO (AP)—The foreign ministers of the six Casablanca conference nations Tuesday announced the appointment of Gen. Mohammed Fawzi of the United Arab Republic as commander in chief of a new joint African high command.

Moroccan Idriss el Sellawi was appointed secretary general of the new defense bloc. He is a former Moroccan minister of trade.

Bamako, Mali, was designated as headquarters of the new command. The so-called Casablanca powers got their name from the place of their summit meeting last January where they took positions on the Congo crisis in favor of the late Soviet-supported Patrice Lumumba.

The six nations represented at Tuesday's conference were the U.A.R. Ghana, Morocco, Mali, Guinea, and Algeria's provisional government in exile.

Some Actors Don't Watch Own Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Authors read books; movie stars usually are movie fans; stage actors go to the theater. But most of the people who make television shows rarely or never watch TV.

This curious and sad situation may account for the quality of some programs.

Over a four-week period, this reporter has talked to scores of actors, writers, producers and directors. None has confessed freely to spending time in front of the set; some actually have boasted they never even look at their own shows.

They make it sound like a chore and excuse themselves by saying there really isn't time. But there does seem to be time for them to attend movies, follow their favorite baseball club and toast their skins beside pools that TV paid for.

The creator-writer-producer of a forthcoming TV series was describing his show in the usual pre-season terms: "fresh, vigorous, realistic, dynamic."

At my suggestion that theme and format seemed dreadfully reminiscent, he waved a condescending hand.

"That's the real problem," he said, wrinkling his brows dramatically. "Very few of us who are producing and creating new shows are what you'd call avid TV viewers. Most of us, in fact, would be classified in that tiny egghead group that enjoys the really cultural type of program and supports educational television. It's quite hard to guess what the public likes."

Another young man whose substantial income is derived entirely from commercial television confessed with a proud chuckle that the one TV set in his three-car, heated-pool home blew the picture tube five months ago and he has no plans to have it repaired.

"We haven't even missed it," he said. "Not even the children." The star of an enormously successful series has never owned a television set—and has never seen his show except to watch the unfinished, rough programs at the studio. Or so he alleges.

One of the fall season's little ironies is the discovery by Richard Boone that he will be competing occasionally against himself this fall. CBS' "Have Gun, Will Travel" will run against NBC's Saturday night movie feature—and Boone has found that he was an actor in three of the first nine vintage movies to be shown.

"I hope the audience will find I'm a better actor today than I was 10 years ago," said Paladin.

Hollywood's Revue Studios, with

FLEXIBILITY!

The Daily Newspaper Is the Flexible Medium for Pinning Down Sales

Newspapers don't tie up the advertiser with rigid time schedules or space limitations that weaken the impact and effectiveness of his message. Newspapers offer creative and physical flexibility. An advertiser can use a two-page spread to tell a detailed story or he can use a smaller space to say what he wants in fewer words, depending on his budget and his strategy. The physical flexibility of newspapers means ads can be scheduled quickly to take care of sudden selling opportunities. The daily newspaper is flexible enough to fit any advertising strategy.

Reuther, General Motors Back to Bargaining Table

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, with a planned General Motors strike delayed at least six days at government request, returns today to the bargaining table of his No. 1 contract target among the Big Three automakers.

Reuther says he expects "to stay with them as long as necessary." This could signal around-the-clock bargaining from which contracts usually emerge in a matter of hours after weeks of preliminary haggling. The negotiations opened in late June.

Both the UAW and General Motors agreed Tuesday night to an extension from Thursday mid night until 10 a.m. next Wednesday of their expiring three-year contract.

The extension was requested by William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, a few hours before the UAW's International Executive Board met to set GM as the target for a Thursday midnight walkout in support of the union's contract demands.

Reuther and UAW aides have insisted that GM sets the price and wage policy of the automobile industry and that the other automakers merely tag along.

In agreeing to delay strike action, Reuther said the union was "unwilling to extend the General Motors contract an hour" beyond the new deadline.

The UAW chief said he was willing to extend Ford and Chrysler contracts, which also run out Thursday midnight, on a day-to-day basis pending settlement with GM. Both companies also agreed.

As he prepared to go to GM for hammers-and-tongs bargaining, Reuther was armed with a new three-year agreement with American Motors Corp. including the auto industry's first profit-sharing plan.

Norman Matthews, a UAW vice president and director of both its Chrysler and AMC departments, told the Chrysler National Council the union will press GM for profit-sharing in some fashion.

All the Big Three are on record against direct profit-sharing with production workers.

Managements insist production workers have shared in industry progress over the years in wage increases which have raised hourly rates to an average $2.80 and fringe benefits to 35 to 40 cents hourly.

The Big Three have made parallel package offers including seven cents an hour wage increases for each of three years and fringe improvements. The union has termed them inadequate. Company spokesmen have called them superior to the AMC settlement. In the latter some major fringe advances depend primarily on profit levels.

Statistics Added Check On Those Seeking Loans

NEW YORK (AP)—You walk into the small-loan office and the man asks you some questions and looks you over quizzically. He decides if you're a good risk or a bad risk. How?

What must you have to be classified with the good guys? Well under one theory, it could be such things as a phone, a spouse, a yen for a home of your own, or a fairly lengthy stay at your present address and in your present job.

The old-time credit manager, however, doesn't buy this necessarily. He will tell you that beyond such obvious things as your credit record, he really has to rely to a great extent on instinct.

A lot of persons who needed some quick cash have found this ordeal by instinct tough enough.

But now you are more and more likely to run up against a new obstacle: statistics. And this means that a lot of those who would have passed the test if the credit manager stuck to his instinct alone will be turned down today if he consults his charts.

Proponents of this law of probabilities or averages say the new method of grading applicants is proving that a high percentage of those that the credit manager in the loan office would have passed are actually bad risks.

Many credit managers don't believe this, anymore than you will if you flunk the test. But converts to the slide rule approach to credit say it has proved itself by the one thing the small-loan business appreciates most—a drop in the number of total losses and also in accounts that cost too much to collect.

Donald L. Barnes Jr., executive vice president of the American Investment Co., St. Louis, Mo., predicts the new credit scoring system should cut its losses by 25 per cent. Last year it made $413 million in loans and had to write off $7 million as bad debts. He hopes the new system will cut this loss by $2 million a year.

Barnes says the system is based on a study of 14,000 accounts. And if you want to rate yourself as a good risk or a bad risk, here's what the averages revealed:

A phone was found in the resi-

Pretty Miss Makes Habit Of Stowing Away On Ships

NEW YORK (AP)—"Mom, I'm going out. Keep supper warm. I'll be right back."

Marion did not get back in time for supper.

She is in Holland, having stowed away on the Holland-America liner Rotterdam.

"She did it again," said Marion's mother, "and this is it."

Marion, a dark-haired, pretty girl who studied in Europe and can talk fast in several languages "did it" the first time last year.

On July 14, 1960, she bought a 50-cent visitor's pass and went aboard the French liner Liberte. She didn't get off again until the ship had reached Le Havre.

Last time, Marion sent her parents a cable from France asking them to pay her passage. Her father, importer Henry Swaab, did so.

This time Marion sent her parents a cable from the vessel reading: "I'm aboard the Rotterdam. Please deposit money with the steamship company. Please wire spending money."

"Not this time," said Mrs. Swaab today. "She needs a lesson. If we pay her way again, next time maybe she'll go to Japan."

The decision was not an easy one for the Swaabs. The family, which came here from Holland 10 years ago, is a close-knit one. Marion is the only child.

"It's harder for us than for her," said Mrs. Swaab. "But she has to learn. There's nothing the matter with her. Last time we had her examined by all sorts of doctors and psychiatrists. She's perfectly healthy."

"She's pretty," the mother added. "She has a pleasant personality, and she can talk you into anything, anything at all."

What about the Holland-America Line? What does it plan to do with the pretty young stowaway? "I haven't the faintest idea," said a line spokesman.

Sarcosie Horse Bids For High Honors In Show

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Beloved Belinda, a silver-gray mare with flying feet, emerged Tuesday night as one of the top entries in the 1961 Tennessee walking horse national celebration here.

Fair Warning, last year's blue-ribbon winner in this event, ran a close second to Belinda.

Beloved Belinda's victory established her as a strong challenger for the grand champion walking horse competition, which will be held Saturday night.

Power

tinues to operate on a sound basis and maintain its present rates to consumers," said William B. Rich, explaining why this move must be made.

"Economies such as these are some of the reasons why Missouri Public Service Co. has not had to increase its electric rates over the past 15 years, and is the only major electric operating company in Missouri, which has not had at least one, and some of them two or more increases, since World War II," Mr. Rich continued.

"The Sedalia station has a capability of 15,500 kilowatts, and can be put on standby once the second unit of the Sibley Station goes into production," Rich stated.

The Sedalia generating station was constructed in 1922, by the City Light & Traction Co., predecessor of Missouri Public Service Co. It was acquired by Missouri Public Service Co. by purchase in 1945. It was the company's second largest generating station from that time until the construction of the Ralph Green Station at Pleasant Hill in 1954, which was followed by the Sibley Station, the first unit of which went on the line in 1960. The company had other generating stations also, located at Warrensburg, Nevada, Trenton and Ridgeway. These were diesel powered stations and all were placed on a standby basis as their operation became uneconomical.

With the exception of Warrensburg, these diesel engine plants are still in existence and are used only in emergencies and for peaking power. The transition to the new from the older type of steam generating stations at the present time is another step by the company in holding expenses as low as possible and continuing to give its customers the best possible service at the lowest possible rate, it was stated.

The company has a contract with the Southwestern Power Administration for the purchase of peaking power. This power is sold at a low rate and will be used by the company to carry its load over its daily peaks which averages three to three and one-half hours per day. With this arrangement the company's new generating facilities and new and improved transmission line facilities will enable the company to carry its peak loads for these few hours daily without using the higher priced generation of the Sedalia and Clinton power plants.

The increases being made in generating capacity over the next few years would eliminate the necessity for the plants in any event without the present peaking power arrangement. With this peaking power contract the company is now in a position to eliminate a large part of the expenses of the operation of the two plants sooner than would be the case if the contract with the Southwestern Power Administration was not in existence.

In conjunction with this contract, there is also an arrangement with the Southwestern Power Administration for dump power, which will furnish the company with some power in times of excessive rainfall in the watersheds where the dams exist—in this area southwestern Missouri and northern Arkansas. This dump power, which is a part of the Southwestern Power Administration contract, allows the company to effect further economy as dump power is sold well below any of the present day generating costs.

In placing the Sedalia generating station on the standby basis, there will be a reorientation of jobs for everyone presently employed there, except Archie Hughes. Mr. Hughes, chief engineer, will remain at the time the change becomes effective. Remaining also in Sedalia will be three operators and the individuals holding those jobs will be determined on the basis of their seniority and qualifications as set forth in the company's contract with Local 814 of the IBEW.

Three new jobs will be created in the realignment. These jobs will be utility, maintenance and relief operator work. Two will be assigned to the Sibley generating station and one in a similar classification to the Ralph Green station at Pleasant Hill. If the plants at Sedalia and Clinton are operated, these three men will be reassigned temporarily to either of the plants as needed.

Nine jobs will be discontinued at the Sedalia plant. Employees presently holding those jobs may exercise their seniority rights under the union contract and bump jobs in the company which their qualifications and seniority permit.

Employees whose jobs will be effected in the reorientation at Sedalia are: Edward J. Bahner, maintenanceman; Don Carver, operator; Emmett H. Cox, relief operator and fireman; M. O. Griggs, operator; C. H. Hull, janitor; Ralph J. Klein, operator; Vernon Means, apprentice fireman; Walter H. Mosby, fireman; Donald L. Prall, operator; Roy Scotten, apprentice fireman; Eugene S. Waterfield, maintenanceman; and Larry Witt, apprentice fireman.

Rep. Curtis, R-Mo., voted against consideration, while Rep. Hall, R-Mo., did not vote but was recorded against the proposal.

Schools Are Desegregated In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—Nine Negro pupils strolled into classes in previously white Atlanta schools today, and watchful police nipped quickly any hint of trouble.

Thus the traditional school segregation barriers—in force in Georgia and Atlanta for 100 years—tumbled, reluctantly perhaps, but quietly. Total public school segregation now remains in only three Deep South states—Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

At the first indication of any trouble at the four high schools being desegregated under federal court orders, police dispersed small knots of spectators and whisked to police headquarters several persons who gave them arguments.

An hour before classes began, police at Murphy High School confiscated two signs urging a boycott of the schools. A man posting a boycott sign in a yard nearby was ordered to remove it or be taken into custody. The sign came down.

City officials and police had made elaborate plans to prevent disorder and the opening day started quietly. A long campaign by civic groups, city officials, educators and religious leaders for a peaceful transition, paved the way for the change.

School integration was the signal for merchants to desegregate downtown lunch counters under an agreement reached months ago.

The Atlanta school system has 69,000 white pupils and 48,000 Negroes. Segregation remained in effect at 13 white high schools, five Negro high schools, 73 white elementary schools and 41 Negro elementary schools.

A man who identified himself as Bill Cody of Arlington, Va., was taken into custody at Grady High School 10 minutes after the Negro pupils entered the building. Cody told a police officer, "I want to picket, and I am going to picket."

Within minutes after two Negro girls entered Murphy High, police moved back small groups of young white men who approached the school from both sides. Three who were reluctant to move back were taken to police headquarters when they refused to give their names.

At Brown High, two men were taken into custody by officers but were not detained. They told police they were just spectators. Police at Brown made another man carrying a camera move on because he did not have a press pass.

Officers at Northside High stopped two men for loitering but they turned out to be FBI agents.

"You also probably know how desperately she tried to solve it," he added.

Pittman Nominated For a CD Position

Sedalians May Have to Pay More for Water

It is apparent Sedalians are going to have to pay a little more for their water, according to information on the meeting between the Sedalia Board of Public Works and members of the City Council Monday night.

At the meeting it was also reported the Board is seeking to have a "control ordinance" passed by the Council several months ago repealed, and the Board given a free hand on the operation of the Water Company.

Although nothing has been released officially by either the Board of Public Works, or the City Council, it was learned from a good source these two matters were subjects of discussion during the meeting.

Paul Hedderick, chairman of the Board of Public Works, when contacted Tuesday evening, said he had nothing to say at this time. Mr. Hedderick said there was a meeting, but there was no statement to be made on the discussion between the Board and Council.

Mayor Abe Silverman, when asked about the meeting, admitted there was a meeting, "but I don't feel that I should have anything to say about what was discussed. It was the Board's meeting. We were only invited to attend and listen to their problems. Anything to be said about what was discussed must come from the Board, not the Council."

Queried about the meeting, one person who attended said he had nothing to say and did not want to be quoted. However, he did admit that the rate increase matter and control ordinance were discussed and no action was taken.

A midsummer outing at the zoo is an American custom. The Romans enjoyed exotic animals too, in a strange way. In their outdoor arenas, they staged "hunts"—fantastic mass slaughters of animals. In one great "spectacular," Romans witnessed a death struggle between 1,000 pairs of gladiators, 60 lions, 32 elephants, 30 leopards, and assorted tigers, hyenas, giraffes, hippopotamuses, wild asses, zebras, and wild horses.

Snakes In Paradise

One of the most Utopian angles in the Communist plan for man is the eventual "withering away" of the state. Russia has promised that this process should be pretty well advanced in 20 years.

Presumably among the state organs due to wither are the police and the penal institutions. Everything will be free, so why should there be crime? Since 20 years is not a long time, one may be justified in looking for signs of decreasing criminal activity in Russia.

The fact is, reports the Institute for the Study of the U.S.S.R., the crime rate has risen there since World War II and continues to rise. It is being met by a "get tough" policy of stiffer sentences and an increase in the number of death-punishable crimes. Counterfeiting and gross embezzling of public property were made capital offenses this year.

From a situation in 1947, when the death penalty was abolished, Russia now has reinstated capital punishment for a number of crimes and is moving back to the old system of forced labor in exile in remote areas of the country.

Among those liable to exile are political convicts and "social parasites" who pretend to be working for the good of the state but who in reality are deriving income from private, "unapproved" ventures.

Since almost all of Russia's criminals have grown up under the Soviet system another large hole is shot though Marx's dogma that all social ills are caused by bourgeois capitalism.

It is not for Americans, speaking from the depths of their blackened pot, to point to any kettle when it comes to criminal statistics. It is to be sincerely hoped that Russia, which once seemed on a road of enlightened penology, can solve her problem of genuine crimes—crimes which plague all nations.

But it is to be doubted whether the Communist ideology will ever give rise to anything but a great many "antisocial" activities which, anywhere else, would not be regarded as crimes.

Mr. K Tells of Arguments With Molotov

By DREW PEARSON

GAGRI, GEORGIA, U.S.S.R. — Before coming to see Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the shore of the Black Sea, I had visited both West and East Berlin, traveled through both West Germany and Russia, and was convinced that World War III which nobody wants might develop over a city which had caused two World Wars in the past.

Khrushchev agreed with this apprehension. And in the formal statement which he gave me after our interview proposed that West Berlin be made a free city, with the Soviet joining in guaranteeing its freedom.

"What many people fear," I told him, "is that the independence of West Berlin will be gradually whittled away. What guarantees can you give to prevent this?"

First of all the presence of token Allied troops," he replied. "And we will join you. Second, our word, pledged by treaty. Third, let me tell you of an experience we had with Austria and Finland which shows how we feel about military occupations.

"When Stalin died we inherited the question of Soviet troops in Austria. I wanted to take them out. Molotov wanted to keep them there. Molotov was a good, honest revolutionary but he is a conservative man who lacks flexibility. Mr. K Won Argument

"I argued that Austria should be on its own, that it was foolish to keep troops there. In the end we withdrew the troops. And today Austria is one of our good friends. Our policy of troop withdrawal paid off.

"Again, we had a military base in Finland. Again I told Molotov it's foolish to keep that base. It only causes friction. We don't need any more lakes and woods. We have enough of our own.

Thought for Today

YOUR NEIGHBOR IS EVERYBODY
By Richard Madden OGD, Author of Father Madden's Life of Christ

Men are rarely what they seem. They appear lighthearted, noisy, independent. They shout, laugh and slap backs. They are actors. But often in the deep corners of their souls, they harbor tiny little bubbles of emptiness, a vacuum of loneliness that cries to be filled. Modern man is lonely because he has loved himself too much. And this bitter kink of love easily turns against itself. Only Christ-like love, directed outward, away from self can remedy this. When Christ said, Love thy Neighbor. He was not inflicting a hardship on us; He was only giving us the means for greater happiness. He was laying out the way to a fuller life. So if men have chosen to hate others, then they have, in fact, hated themselves.

Day after day the same old story of injury and hatred, and the old wounds of a bleeding world are torn open anew. In typical blindness we forget that when we destroy love in others, we destroy it in ourselves. All that is not love is death. Which is why Christ commanded us to love. He wants to save us from ourselves.

What about our neighbor? He is not the man who lives next door. He is every man. He is all sizes and nationalities and colors. He is the man who precedes you into the last parking space. He is the man who puts the parking ticket under your windshield wiper. Your neighbor is everybody; and although he is not necessarily to be liked, he is to be loved.

And how are you supposed to love him? The way you love yourself. You make sure that you are well fed and well watered three times a day. You are certain that you get enough sleep. Well, just as we love ourselves, that is the way we are to love our neighbor.

If you think it is hard, you're right. It is hard, but not too hard. Besides the only way we can make something of ourselves is by doing hard things, because, when you examine it, the hard things are usually the right things.

It is love that makes heroes and heroines in our day. It is love that prompted the 23-year-old airline stewardess to look for something heroic to do with her life. It is love that made her carry through her resolution, that sent her to a leper colony in the filth of Korea, and then made her write back, "A few months ago I was bored serving cocktails on airplanes to people with well-manicured finger nails; today I am happy serving soup to people with no fingers." It is love that begets greatness, and it is this kind of greatness that begets the sheer joy of living.

We look around us in the world and we find pain and suffering. But God made this world. Why? Simple. So that each one of us, by our love for one another, by our charity and by our dedication, might add our finest touch to His great masterpiece.

(PAULIST FEATURE SERVICE)

"So we withdrew the base, and again Finland has become one of our good friends.

"We were willing to sacrifice our prestige in both cases for the sake of peace. I hope Mr. Kennedy will not worry about American prestige when it comes to Berlin. For the same principle of military occupation and peace is involved."

Khrushchev then referred to the continued statements by Chancellor Adenauer and Mayor Willy Brandt that the Soviet Union wants to "seize West Berlin."

"It is not in vain," he said, "that a lie walks on short legs."

Having spelled out his proposal for an allied guarantee of West Berlin, Khrushchev said: "The question remains of the freedom of access to West Berlin. It is around this question that the opponents to a peace treaty are raising such a clamor. So it's important to have complete clarity on this question."

"We have said, and we repeat, that no one is encroaching on the freedom of access to West Berlin. On the contrary, in proposing the conclusion of a German peace treaty we emphasize that the freedom of West Berlin's communications must be guaranteed. The West Berlin government, as any sovereign government, must have the right to maintain diplomatic, economic and cultural ties with any country."

"Where then do our differences lie?"

Not A Single Fly

Mr. Khrushchev then explained, very carefully, that with the ending of a military occupation, the rights of access of that occupation ceased, and that with the signing of a treaty new rights of access had to be negotiated with the East German government.

"And if certain state and political leaders say: 'Let the Soviet Union and other countries sign a peace treaty while leaving the Western powers the right of access to West Berlin which stems from the occupation status,' Khrushchev continued, 'they are wishing for the impossible. When a peace treaty is signed the rights of the conquering powers which stem from the surrender of that conquered country come to an end.'"

However, Mr. Khrushchev made it clear that if the allies joined the USSR in signing a peace treaty, the status of West Berlin would be guaranteed.

Asked what would happen to the 50,000 East Berliners who previously worked in West Berlin but were now shut out, he replied:

"I can't tell you what will happen because this is up to Comrade Ulbricht (President of East Germany). But I would suppose that once a treaty is signed and things settle down they could come and go as they please."

"At present the United States and West Germany have been devising a plan for an economic blockade of East Germany," Mr. K continued. "If you do that you'll help East Germany become free of West Germany."

"But also in this case we will reply with such a blockade of West Berlin that not a single fly will get in."

(Editor's Note — Pearson will report further on his talks with Premier Khrushchev tomorrow.)

Surface Scratching

We are told that no matter how stubborn the Russians are in negotiation, we must keep coming back to the council table. We never know when a break-through might be scored.

Well, there has been one. It's small, but real. The announcement comes from a British scientist who has been busy these many years collecting all the known varieties of fleas.

The collector already possesses about 95 per cent of the identified varieties. The others, all quite rare, exist only in the Soviet Union. Now, joy to the world, we are told that the Iron Curtain will be lifted just high enough to let these rare fleas sneak under and join the others.

Unity in the flea world isn't much, but it's a start.

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL: Big Cars Banned. — Japan has taken an interesting and unusual approach to the problem of road constructions costs. Under a new construction ministry regulation that takes effect right away, big cars, many of them American, will be banned from side roads. The bus companies that use such roads have been given three years to reduce the size of their vehicles. It has long been a question as to whether the government was really obligated to provide roads everywhere that would stand up under the pounding of heavy vehicles. Japan has said not.

Both Sides Dancing Slow On Berlin

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If speed were a meal-ticket, the diplomats would starve to death. For three years both sides have been in a slow dance on Berlin, pausing to parley. Now the music begins again.

This time the tune is a little different, more somber, because Premier Khrushchev sounds more determined. But once again the foreign ministers are beginning to shuffle toward another parley.

Whether this means another full-blown and long-drawn out foreign ministers meeting or just a short one to be followed by another summit conference won't be known for a while.

But, as Khrushchev has kept on piling up the Berlin crisis, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has kept saying there'd be negotiations to settle the whole thing peacefully. Khrushchev has kept the door open for negotiations.

But slow as it all is French President de Gaulle wanted it still slower. He was against hurrying into a conference with the Soviets. So a kind of compromise was worked out.

In September the West's Big Four ministers—American, British, French, West German—are expected to meet in this country to decide how to handle Khrushchev. Then they'll contact his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko.

The purpose: to see whether he thinks East-West talks would be worthwhile. It would be much simpler to send him a cable, asking that question, but apparently cables move too fast.

But one thing's for sure: If the foreign ministers—the Western ones by themselves or the Western ones with Gromyko—duplicate their performance of the past two years the answer will be a big, fat zero and maybe real trouble.

Khrushchev started the trouble in November 1958, when he called for the West to get out of Berlin. Between then and May 1959 both sides had time to figure out a settlement—if they wanted one. Apparently they didn't.

The American, British and French foreign ministers met with Gromyko from May to August 1959, but they not only couldn't agree, they wound up in confessed confusion.

French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville said of Gromyko's tactics: "We are in complete confusion. We have reached a point at which neither side knows what the other is talking about."

The Westerners proposed, among other things, that Khrushchev agree to unification of East and West Germany. It didn't need a magician to know that's the last thing to which Khrushchev would let Gromyko agree.

So Gromyko said the Western proposals were a "hopeless tangle of unrelated issues." The West also wanted a five-year extension of the present Berlin situation. Russia offered only 18 months, with no promise of what happened afterwards.

This was such a total mess that, to calm down Khrushchev, President Eisenhower invited him to this country. After the two men met at Camp David they agreed to have a summit meeting in Paris May 16, 1960.

So, with more months in which to prepare for this, the Western foreign ministers by themselves met in April 1960. Their purpose, then as now, was to work out strategy for handling Khrushchev.

The result: no new ideas. What they decided, if summed up in two words, was: Stand pat. This hardly set the stage for an amicable get-together with the Russians.

But an amicable get-together seemed to be all that De Gaulle and Eisenhower wanted. Both men in public statements played down the idea of solutions and talked of laying the groundwork for better East-West relations.

But then the shooting down of the American U2 spy plane threw Khrushchev into such a tizzy that he wrecked the summit conference as soon as it started. This was the speediest piece of diplomatic business in years.

But in 1958, 1959 and 1960 the West had better reason to think it could stall off Khrushchev than it has now. Then he was just talking big. Now he has shut off East Berlin and in effect tells the West it had better talk turkey in 1961.

Have Wall Street Probes Shaken Small Investors?

By FAYE HENLE

How does the unsophisticated investor feel about Wall Street these days?

Has his enthusiasm been damped by the probes under way into the role of the specialist—the man whose job it is to keep an honest and orderly balance between the supply and price of individual stocks? Is he worried about investigation of the over-the-counter market? Is he fretting about the aspirations cast at the growing army of part-time salesmen?

I've surveyed the situation at the individual level from cab-driver to housewife. The successful investor voices faith that if you pick the right stock you've little to worry about.

The disappointed investor time and again, with a shrug of the shoulder, questions how he can hope to match wits with the professional.

Latest figures from the New York Stock Exchange on opening of Monthly Investment plans show the first half of this year as the second most active period in the six-year history of M.I.P. More than 25,000 plans were initiated and more shares bought, despite higher prices, than ever before.

What about investment club members? At latest count there were 21,000 such clubs in the United States with more than 250,000 members. According to T. Lewis Moore, president of the Greater New York Council of Investment Clubs, more than 350 such clubs joined the National Association of Investment Clubs in June. This investment club business is no Johnny-come-lately affair, Mr. Moore points out, tracing the first such club to Texas, circa 1890.

Is it a get-rich-quick lure that keeps the M. I. P. investor and the investment club member going strong? Those who hold the small investor's pulse assure me that in only a small percentage of cases is this the truth.

"Folks look upon stocks as having a status symbol," Moore assured me. "They are quick to see that with care this is an important way to protect oneself against the declining buying power of the dollar."

In recent years the number of women participating in investment clubs has risen from 4 per cent to 14 per cent. The average age of members is 41.

Many club members, in addition to investing through their clubs, invest on their own, but keep up their membership in order to learn more about the ways of the securities markets and individual stocks. Right now, the favorite investment club stocks are Brunswick, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing and General Dynamics. The M. I. P. favorites are General Motors, General Electric and A. T. & T.

Were investment clubs not successful they would not be growing at the current rate, Moore claims, citing club principles that have proved successful. They could be equally helpful to the individual investor. They are:

Invest a set sum of savings regularly, regardless whether the market appears high or low to you.

Reinvest, if possible, both dividends and capital gains.

Buy growth stocks — stocks whose sales appear to be gaining 10 per cent or more each year.

Invest in different industries.

Which Would You Rather Be, Wife or Widow?

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Want to do all in your power to keep from joining America's increasing number of widows?

Then be on the lookout for the time of life when your job as a homemaker becomes easy, yet, your husband's job remains as hard as ever—perhaps, even harder than in his younger days because of increased responsibilities or because of diminishing physical strength.

The time when the man of the family is carrying a heavier load than his wife usually comes during the middle years, when all or most of the children are grown and gone from home.

That leaves the homemaker with an easy job and plenty of leisure time and the chance to do all that she can to make her husband's life easier.

She can do this in any number of ways. She can take over some of the extra jobs he assumed during the years when her work days were longer than his.

She can lighten her husband's financial load by taking a long hard look at their living expenses and figuring out ways to cut down on the monthly bills.

She can help her husband figure out a retirement plan so that he isn't nagged by worry about the time when he can no longer work.

She can cut the pattern of their social life to suit her husband's realizing that since he is carrying the heavier load he probably needs more rest than she does.

She can encourage her husband to find some relaxing hobbies, whether she shares his particular outside interests or not.

She can—with fewer demands upon her time—devote herself to making a home in which her husband's wishes come first, and his welfare her main concern.

With conscious effort a wife can help ease her husband's load when hers becomes much lighter than his.

Men, you too can help her with part of the load if you'll read "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o Sedalia Democrat, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

The Well Child

ABC's of Insect Stings—Some Minor, Some Lethal

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Stinging insects cause more disability and a larger total number of deaths in the United States than do venomous snakes. On this account, a recent study made in New Jersey's rural Hunterdon County merits the attention of every conscientious parent whose children are apt to be stung while at play.

Now there are at least two principal reactions to the stings of flying insects. The simpler is merely the result of the injection of the venom that causes pain, swelling and redness of varying intensity. Always, too, this reaction is accompanied by a certain amount of fright and shock to the youngster. Usually the situation can be controlled by reassurance and the application of ice or cold compresses.

A more serious reaction is of an allergic nature. Then, in addition to the effects of the sting, the victim may become seriously ill with a rapid pulse rate, difficulty in breathing, a persistent asthmatic type of cough, and stiffness of the nose. Such an attack may further lead to fainting, convulsions and even death.

In the series of 95 cases that were of sufficient severity to be brought to the attention of the staff of the Hunterdon Medical Center, yellow jackets accounted for almost two-thirds, paper wasps for a third and honeybees, hornets and bumblebees for the remainder.

Here are some of the observations made by the Hunterdon group that may help you prevent these accidents to your children: Swatting the flying insect increases the chances of being attacked. The child should be instructed to stand still when the insect puts in its appearance.

Black, brown and red worsted and flannel clothing seem to attract stinging bees. Apparently white, blue and yellow apparel afford some protection.

Odors, such as body sweat and perfume, attract yellow jackets, paper wasps, hornets, bumblebees and honeybees. Seemingly, freshly laundered clothes are not to their liking.

The barb of the honeybee enters the skin and should be scraped off with a sharp object. Grasping it with fingernails or forceps will not cause its removal.

Skin tests for sensitization merit consideration for the child or allergic parents and -or for the child or adult who has suffered an allergic type of reaction to an insect sting.

In the presence of a markedly positive reaction, a series of injections (like those given for hay fever) may lessen the sensitivity to a point where danger no longer exists.

Getting Up Early Helps Relax Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Feeling hurried, harried and harassed? Dr. Rosalind Russell has the solution.

It's astonishingly simple: get up a half-hour early in the morning.

This prescription came out as I was trying to plumb the dynamo that is Russell. At an age when many women are content to rattle knitting needles, she maintains a bone-crushing schedule.

This year she is hurtling through three diverse and difficult film roles: in "Majority of One," "Five Finger Exercise," and "Gypsy." She plays a Jewish matron, a five-letter female and a voracious stage mother, respectively, and she'll have to dance and belt songs as the latter.

She still manages to maintain civic work, a writing career and a serene household for husband Freddie Brissson and their son Lance, 18.

How does she do it?

"By rising a half-hour before I normally would," she explained. "You'd be surprised what a difference that makes. The morning is a peaceful time, and you have a chance to think over your whole day. You can have a relaxed and sizable breakfast, which is very important for getting you through the day."

"You don't miss that extra half-hour of sleep. Sleep is highly overrated. I used to worry because I would lie awake at night. I told my doctor and he said, 'Several million other people are lying awake at the same time.' He told me to get up and sort the linen or straighten out a drawer or do some other useful but dull task, then go back to bed. I tried it, and it works."

Roz has another regimen to keep life in the proper proportion. That's a quiet hour at the end of the day. She and Freddie sit down for cocktails and conversation. There are no interruptions and no shop talk, even though he is her producer on her current "Five Finger Exercise."

"We don't talk movie business unless it is something funny," she said. "Mostly we talk about people."

World of TV Commercials Seems Better Than Heaven

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some people want to go to heaven when they leave this present vale of tears and terror.

I did, too, until I started noticing how the people live who are pictured in television commercials. Now, if I must depart this earthly scene, I want to be reborn one of them.

They dwell, it seems to me, in the best of all possible worlds—better even than heaven because it is more exciting.

There are two fantasy worlds on television.

One is the world shown on TV programs. It is a world of conflict and violence inhabited by gangsters, Western bad men, juvenile delinquents, psychotics and neurotics. It is a ferocious world in which fists thud endlessly, flashing knives are buried in human flesh, and guns bark, roar or spit flaming death.

Life in this world is just one long heyday for the undertaker and the bandage salesman.

The second TV fantasy world is shown in the commercials.

This is the dream world into which any sensible person would love to retire right now and live happily forever.

What are its attractions? Well, there are so many it is hard to know just where to begin.

The world of the TV commercial is a world of solvable problems. Most everybody has a trouble, but it is a small trouble easily and quickly remedied.

It is a world without cruelty or mayhem, inhabited by kindly people who help one another to live better by just a bit of friendly advice.

The repairman doesn't charge the harassed housewife $86.12 to fix her washing machine.

"What kind of soapsuds have you been using?" he asks with tolerant superiority. "Just switch to GRIME, and everything will be all right."

The housewife does—right there and then. Miracle of miracles, it works. If the repairman even bothers to give her a bill, he does it off camera.

In the world of the TV commercial no one worries about the hydrogen bomb, the Berlin crisis, or what to do about Cuba. No one is afflicted with cancer, heart disease, or a runaway ex-husband who refuses to meet his alimony payments.

Lonely girls or middle-aged women find new romance simply by switching to a new deodorant or gray-hair dye. Lonely men anoint their unruly locks with a special cream, and immediately

Soviets Push Development Of Various Type Vaccines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vaccines in the Soviet Union, heart attacks in middle-aged smokers, and calcium in the diet of persons with thinning bones are subjects for focus on health.

Soviets Push Vaccines

The Soviet Union is pushing development of various vaccines against influenza, mumps and respiratory infections, say U.S. doctors after a recent trip to the U.S.S.R.

The Soviet Union is preparing a billion doses of live-virus, oral polio vaccine from seed viruses obtained from Dr. Albert Sabin. Some of these doses are to be offered to other countries, scientists report.

Most other Soviet vaccines reported also involve live viruses as opposed to killed virus vaccines used widely in the United States. Soviet researchers say they have a live-virus mumps vaccine which has been given to 50,000 children by injection with good response. They have also used live-virus influenza vaccine which has some drawbacks, they told U.S. visitors.

Why are death rates from heart attacks among middle-aged men up to 1½ times as high for heavy cigarette smokers as for non-smokers?

Have Impressive Record

Redlegs Retain Lead Over LA

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was no pennant fever among the Cincinnati Reds or their fans in early season, but things weren't so black that Manager Fred Hutchinson was without hope.

"We could do all right," said Hutch. "If we could get some pitching. We need it, because we don't score many runs."

That will give you some idea of just how much of a surprise team the Reds are in that National League race. Not only are they second in run totals—610 to San Francisco's 627—but the pitching staff leads the league in shutouts.

With southpaw Jim O'Toole and reliever Jim Maloney combining for Cincinnati's 10th white-wash job of the season, the Reds knocked off Pittsburgh 3-0 Tuesday night and retained a 3½-game lead over second-place Los Angeles. The Dodgers stayed close with a 2-1 victory at Chicago as Sandy Koufax limited the Cubs to a pair of singles.

Milwaukee replaced San Francisco in third place, seven games behind, by beating the Giants 7-6 in 13 innings on Ed Matthews' home run. St. Louis made it eight in a row with a 5-4 victory at Philadelphia in the opener of a two-night pair, but the Phils took the nightcap 4-3.

In the American League, New York was shut out on four singles by Camilo Pascual and lost 3-0 at Minnesota, but the Yankees retained a 1½-game edge when the Chicago White Sox beat second-place Detroit 4-3. Los Angeles swept a two-night doubleheader from Baltimore by 6-5 scores, with the second game going 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

The Reds won their third in a row with a sixth-inning run at Pittsburgh on singles by Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch and Gordy Coleman off right-hander Bob Friend (12-17).

Maloney nailed it for O'Toole (14-9), who gave up all of the Bucs' six hits, by striking out pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Koufax (15-9), who leads NL pitchers in low-hit games with a pair of three-hitters and a couple of three-hit performances, held the Cubs hitless for 6 2-3 innings for the second time this season. Sandy struck out 12, for a season total of 212, tops in the majors.

The Dodgers scored the winning run in the top of the seventh on a walk, sacrifice and Frank Howard's single off Don Cardwell (11-12).

Mathews' 26th home run came with one out in the bottom of the 13th for the Braves—their only hit against loser Dick LeMay (2-5) in his five innings of relief.

Don Nottebart (5-6) won it, blanking the Giants on one hit after Willie McCovey's two-run homer off Milwaukee starter Lew Burdette had tied it with one out in the ninth.

An error and Bill White's triple won the opener for St. Louis and Curt Simmons in the ninth as the Cards tied their longest winning streak of the year. Chris Short (5-10) then shut them out on two hits in 7 2-3 innings of relief in the nightcap.

Hambletonian Trotters In Prime Shape

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Thirteen horses, the cream of the nation's 3-year-old trotters, were reported in prime condition for today's 36th performance of the Hambletonian.

A record crowd of 30,000 was expected for American harness racing's foremost classic, with $131,573 in prize money.

The opening heat starts at 2 p.m. EST.

The crown, and first prize of $77,364, will go to the first trotter to win two mile heats on the one-mile oval at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds. Most drivers were prepared for more than two heats because of the speed already shown this year by the majority of the entrants.

The field of 13 starters announced Sunday is the smallest Hambletonian field since 1955.

Most of the trainer-drivers consider Caleb, Matatar and Duke Rodney the horses to beat.

Caleb drew the No. 1 starting position, next to the rail in the first tier of 10 horses. Caleb will be driven by John Simpson, who drove Hickory Smoke to a Hambletonian victory in 1957.

Matatar, driven by veteran Harry Pownall, also won a rail position, directly behind Caleb, in the second tier of three horses.

Duke Rodney, driven by Eddie Wheeler, drew the eighth position in the front tier.

Spectator, piloted by Ralph Baldwin, and Harlan Dean, driven by Jimmy Arthur, also were regarded as strong challengers.

Other horses in the field are Speedy Princess, Frostbite, Meadow Farr, Claire Sampson, Medalist, Behave, Pack Hanover and Orbiter.

Eighteen of the Hambletonian Society's 21 directors are scheduled to vote Thursday by secret ballot to decide where the classic race will be held after 1962. The Society's current contract with E. J. and Don Hayes, the brothers who brought the race to Du Quoin in 1957, expires after next year's event.

Pascual Checks Yankees

Twin Pitcher Holds Sluggers, Shuts Out Club

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's been a pretty tough season for the Minnesota Twins, but for Camilo Pascual, their right-handed ace, things have been good and tough, you might say.

The curve-balling Cuban has a 12-13 record with the eighth-place Twins, and he's been good in every one of those dozen victories although most of them have been tough to nail. In six of the 12, Pascual has pitched shutouts. Three of the other six have been by one run, another by two runs.

Pascual hung out by 12th victory and sixth shutout by knocking off the New York Yankees 3-0 Tuesday night, checking the slugging American League leaders on four hits, all singles.

It was only the third victory over New York in 16 games for the Twins—and all three have been shutouts, two by Pascual. He tied Baltimore's Steve Barber for the major league shutout lead with this one and replaced Yankee Whitey Ford as the AL strikeout leader by fanning nine, three times putting a called third strike past Mickey Mantle.

Despite the defeat, the Yanks retained a 1½-game edge over Detroit as the Chicago White Sox ended the second place Tigers' winning streak at five, 4-3. The Los Angeles Angels swept a pair of 6-5 decisions from Baltimore, taking the second in 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

In the National League, Cincinnati won 3-0 at Pittsburgh and stayed 3½ games ahead of the second place Los Angeles Dodgers, who won 2-1 at Chicago. Milwaukee beat San Francisco 7-6 in 13 innings. St. Louis won 5-4 in the first game at Philadelphia, then lost the night cap 4-3.

Pascual, who became a first-time poppa earlier in the day, put away his fifth career shutout over the Yankees with a flourish. He struck out Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek in the ninth, but Roger Maris was safe on a two-base error. Pascual then fanned Mantle for the final out. That extended his shutout streak through 20 innings and gave him 179 strikeouts.

Mantle was 1-for-4 and his 46-home run total leaves him just one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. Maris, 0-for-3, is eight games ahead of Ruth with his 51.

Ralph Terry (11-2) was the loser, after winning six in a row. An unearned run in the third, on Lenny Green's single, an error and Billy Martin's sacrifice fly, ended Terry's shutout string at 24 1-3 innings. Earl Battey's two-run double wrapped it up in the sixth before a crowd of 40,118 that put the Twins over the million mark in their inaugural season.

The Tigers, who had won 10 of 11, blew a 2-0 lead and then boot- away the game behind Frank Lary (19-7) when the White Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh on a single by winning righthander Ray Herbert (9-12) and two errors. The telling error was by Chico Fernandez, who had batted in two Detroit runs. Rocky Colavito of the Tigers went without an RBI for the first time in 10 games, falling one shy of the AL record.

Jim Gentile belted his 41st and

UNCONCERNED—With rumors flying around the he is on the way out as manager of the Dodgers because of a losing streak by the Los Angeles team, manager Walt Alston seems unconcerned. Maybe he shouldn't be because owner Walter O'Malley said rumors are unfounded.

May Finish This Season With Orioles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Richards, heading for a five-year term as general manager of the National League's new Houston club, said today he will go along with the Baltimore Orioles if and when they ask him to finish out the current season.

Richards, who took over the helm of the Orioles in 1954 after leaving the Chicago White Sox, announced his resignation as Orioles' field manager just before the club's doubleheader here with the Angels.

The announcement came as no surprise. It was rumored for several weeks he was considering an attractive offer from Houston, which begins play in an expanded National League next season. A month ago, The Associated Press disclosed that Richards would leave Baltimore to go to Houston.

Richards, announcing he was resigning, said the contract with Houston had not been finalized but that Houston officials had agreed to his general demands.

"I have asked that three additional conditions be included in the contract and as yet the Houston people haven't agreed to them," he said.

A spokesman for the new Texas team, however, seemed fairly certain Richards and the club could get together. "We should have an announcement within 48 hours if Richards is relieved from his contract at Baltimore," the spokesman said.

Contacted in New York, Joseph Iglehart, Orioles' board chairman, said he intended to ask Richards to remain with the Orioles until the season is completed.

"I'm sure he will," Iglehart said. Informed of this, Richards said he would stay with Baltimore if requested to do so.

In Baltimore, Oriole president and general manager, Lee MacPhail, said he had talked with Richards about his resignation earlier Tuesday and had asked him to wait until October before severing his ties with the Birds.

"We would like him to stay, and he has indicated he would do so if we request it," MacPhail said. "So it appears likely that he will stay."

Chain Formed To Prevent Boy From Long Fall

MADISON, Wis. — (AP) — Three boys formed a human chain Tuesday to hold a 6-year-old from sliding 35 feet into a quarry.

The boys held the youngster for more than a half-hour before firemen used aerial ladders to lower all four to safety.

Jimmy Mack, 13, and his brother, Tom, 6, started to climb up the side of a quarry. Jimmy reached the top but Tom became frightened when up about 35 feet and cried for help.

Bob Jenkins, 12, and Tom Enders, 10, playing nearby, saw Tom's plight and got to the ledge where he was clinging. Tom held on to Enders' leg and the other two boys hung on to Enders until a resident's call brought the fire department.

42nd home runs for the Orioles in the opener, but the Angels took it on a squeeze bunt by winner Ryne Duren (6-11) in the sixth inning. Home runs by Joe Koppe and Steve Bilko then brought the Angels from behind in the fifth inning of the second game and gave the victory to Eli Grba (8-11) in relief. Barber (15-10) and Billy Hoelt (4-4) were the losing pitchers.

The Indians came from behind at Washington with six runs in the seventh, five unearned. Bob Allen (3-0) was the winner and Mike Garcia (0-1) the loser, both in relief.

The Red Sox also won with a six-run rally, overhauling the A's and beating Ed Rakow (2-6) on Frank Malzone's two-out, two-run single in the ninth. Chet Nichols (32) was the winner in relief.

IF YOU DANCE, YOU CAN BOWL—There is a strong similarity in the fundamentals of the rhythm and footwork of both. Candid proof of this is found in action photographs of participants in the United States Senior Bowling Association Tournament at Skokie, Ill.

Call 6 Witnesses

Senate Probe Continuing In Race Track Crackdown

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime investigators called race track figures from six states for questioning today, and sought to solve a plot to silence two other witnesses.

Harry Gorman of Indianapolis, who described himself as a retired Indianapolis race wire operator, swore he had been threatened with death if he gave information to the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee also heard testimony that Frank W. Lyons, a Chicago race wire employee, tried to commit suicide Saturday because of threats.

Thus far the senators have drawn a blank in trying to identify the authors of the threats. They wouldn't say whether they

Cardinals Split With Phils; A's Fade In Ninth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals ran their winning streak to eight games when they downed the Phils 5-4 in the first game of a two-night Tuesday at Philadelphia. But the streak ended shortly thereafter as the Phils took the second contest 4-3.

Chris Short pitched good relief ball for the last 7 2-3 innings and a run scoring single by Rubin Amaro in the sixth inning of the second game provided the Philadelphia victory.

The Boston Red Sox staged a six-run ninth inning rally and notched an 8-4 victory over the Athletics at Kansas City.

The blasted ninth six hitter Ed Rakow had going for the A's. He had two out and one aboard with a walk when the roof fell in.

Chuck Schilling singled and Carroll Hardy and Carl Yastrzemski walked, making the score 4-5.

Bill Fischer then relieved Rakow and gave up a two-run single to Frank Malzone, a double by Jackie Jensen and a triple by Pete Runnels.

Leo Posada drove in three of the Kansas City runs.

Short took over for starter Jim Owens with runners on first and third and one out in the second inning after the Cards had scored three runs in the first on three singles, a walk and an infield out.

Johnny Callison slammed a three-run homer after an error and Tony Taylor's single off Bob Miller tied the score in the third.

With Al Cicotte pitching in the sixth, Charlie Smith beat out an infield hit, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Amaro, who was starting his first game in two weeks.

The Cards, who went into the ninth inning of the opener with a 4-2 lead behind Curt Simmons, added the decisive run on an error and Bill White's triple.

The Phils chased Simmons on a walk, a single and Tony Gonzales' triple before Ed Bauta came on to get the last out.

were asking the FBI for help. Because Lyons and Gorman were under subpoena, attempts to intimidate them could bring felony punishment for obstruction of justice.

The subcommittee listed men from Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Louisiana as witnesses in the hearings on big-time gambling. It presently is exploring the role of secret but legal race wire services as a bulwark of illegal hand-book betting on the horses.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., subcommittee chairman, said the witnesses would include Martin Hillery of Chicago; Louis Ekke- man of the Louisville (Ky.) Daily Sports; Robert C. Cullen, a Cincinnati, Ohio, operator; Stanley Schoemaker and Richard Busker of Newport, Ky.; Henry Crowley of Steubenville, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Thurman of Louisville; William P. Brown of Richmond Heights, Mo.; and members of a New Orleans, La., race wire operation known as Nola News.

Downey Rice, a subcommittee consultant, testified that Nola News is a "Mafia type" operation.

Rice, a former FBI agent who was counsel to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee in 1950 and 1951, named Nola's three top figures as Joseph Marcello, Joseph Poretto and Ralph Emery. He said Emery is the son of Vincent Ammeratto, an Al Capone mobster who also was known as Vincent Emery.

Subcommittee officials said Marcello's brother, Carlos, has sent word he is too ill to respond to a subpoena already served on him. The government is trying to deport Carlos Marcello.

As Rice told it, the big race wire services generally use subsidiary companies which actually feed information on race winners, last-minute jockey switches and other track data to bookmakers.

He described Nola as a subsidiary to the Illinois Sports Service in Chicago, and Illinois Sports Service as the successor to the old Continental Press Service. He said Continental faded out of existence after a bitter upheaval in the Chicago underworld in which at least one man was slain.

The story of the threatened witnesses came out when Thomas Kelly, Sr., head of Illinois Sports Service, refused to answer when asked if he had harassed Lyons to the point that Lyons took an overdose of sleeping pills Saturday. Lyons is in a hospital now. Whether he will testify in the hearings later has not been decided.

Gorman, the former race wire operator, swore that anonymous telephone callers, learning he had been subpoenaed, threatened him in vile language with death if he testified.

Police Sgt. Morris English of Arlington Heights, Ill., a Chicago suburb, testified Mrs. Lyons told him her husband also had been threatened in an effort to induce him to invoke the Fifth Amendment in the hearings.

Coffee Addict Husband Given Pot In Divorce

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Stanley Hardman, 35, was granted a divorce after complaining that her police sergeant husband bawled her out if she didn't bring him coffee right away when he rang a bell.

Alyce Hardman said the sergeant kept the bell at the head of his bed.

Judge W. W. Jaoka awarded her the family house, $1 a month alimony and $50 a month each for three children.

Sgt. Hardman was awarded one frying pan, one saucepan and—the coffee pot.

Two Famous Names Among Guard Cadets

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—A group of Coast Guard cadets always can brag they sailed in a square-rigger with John Paul Jones and John F. Kennedy.

Jones is a petty officer first class from College Park, Md., and Kennedy is a chief petty officer from Fulton, N.Y. Both are serving in the Coast Guard cutter Eagle, due back here Saturday from a two-week cadet training cruise.

Kirkwood Woman Is Auto Crash Victim

PALMYRA, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Adah E. Gordon, 65, of Kirkwood, Mo., was killed Tuesday night in an auto accident 1½ miles north of Palmyra on U. S. highway 61.

Police said Mrs. Gordon was alone in her car when it and a pickup truck driven by Carroll Gowin, 54, of Kansas City, Mo., sideswiped on a curve.

Gowin and his brother, Harry, 64, also of Kansas City, were treated for minor injuries by a private physician.

Readjustment Pay Increased For Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed 394-0 Tuesday a bill increasing the amount of readjustment pay for long-time reserve members of the military services who are released involuntarily from active duty. The measure goes to the Senate.

Sponsors said the bill, also changing some release procedures would equalize the treatment of reserves and regulars and encourage more reserve officers to remain on active duty beyond their obligated periods. About one-third now remain. The services want to keep 45 per cent.

The readjustment pay is a lump sum when the man is dismissed from active duty—comparable to severance pay given by some civilian firms when releasing employees.

Examples of the increases under the bill:

A major or officer of equivalent rank released after 14 years service would receive $13,680, instead of the present $3,990. A master sergeant released after the same period would receive $7,440 instead of $2,170.
